INTERNATIONAL COOPERATIVE ALLIANCE (ICA)

The International Cooperative Alliance (ICA) is an international Non-Governmental Organisation (NGO), which was formed in London, in 1895 as an association of national cooperatives. It is currently composed of 172 member organisations from 72 countries around the world, representing over a half-billion individuals and their families.

Member organisations are from national cooperative movements both in the areas of consumer cooperatives (e.g. insurance, banking, housing) and producer cooperatives (e.g. agricultural, industrial, artisanal).

Specialised Organisations and Working Parties of the ICA

The ICA brings together cooperatives of many sectors. Many of its member organisations who are involved in the same fields of activities have established committees and working groups to discuss issues of concern and promote collaboration. Such co-operation began in 1922 with the founding of the International Cooperative Insurance Federation (ICIF).

Following the XXVIII Congress in Hamburg in 1984, these committees, which were originally called Auxiliary Committees, were re-named International Specialised Organisations. Article 30 of the ICA Rules specifies the conditions for the establishment and running of the specialised organisations. A listing of those organisations, their officers and secretariats are listed in this directory. Further details on their scope of work and membership can be obtained by contacting the ICA Head Office in Geneva.

Governing Bodies of the ICA

The Quadrennial Congress of the ICA is the highest governing body of the ICA. It is responsible for the appointment of the Central Committee, which meets annually. The Central Committee elects the President and Vice Presidents, together with 13 members of the Executive Committee, at the time of Congress, to hold office until the commencement of the next Congress.

The meeting of the Central Committee for 1985 will be held in October in the United States (Washington, DC) and for 1986 in Switzerland (Basle). The meeting of the 1988 Congress will be held in Stockholm, Sweden.

The Executive Committee of the ICA meets at least twice during the calendar year and elects two working subcommittees, the Executive Sub-Committee; dealing with finance, administration and policy and the Cooperative Development Committee (CDC); dealing with the development programme of the ICA and its regional offices.

A copy of the Rules and Standing Orders governing the ICA are available upon request. Information on membership of the ICA or application for membership in the ICA can be obtained by contacting the Head Office in Geneva.

Central Committee 1984 - 1988

Due to numerous changes in appointments of delegates to the Central Committee from member organisations during this period, the listing of the Central Committee does not appear in this directory. The Central Committee roster is updated quarterly and is available upon request from the Head Office.

NOTES TO THE 1985-1986 DIRECTORY:

The information contained in the listings for the member organisations of the ICA are based on data received from the membership in March of 1985.

There are five (5) official languages of the ICA: English, Spanish, French, German and Russian. English is the working language of the International Cooperative Alliance
