Preface

Directories and guides to sources of information are so often the starting point in obtaining information from appropriate agencies. As librarians we know only too well how valuable such bibliographical aids are to us when we are tracking down information on specific subjects. It is right, therefore, that in our efforts to make the abundant literature of Co-operation, in its various forms, available to potential users that we should make access to our collections known and readily available.

This revised, second edition of the "Directory of Co-operative Libraries and Documentation Services" helps to meet this need. It is hoped users will find the description and detail on each library collection and services to be concise, adequate, and the key to access. If that simply stated hope is realised the Working Party and the editors of this edition, Ms. Zdenka Flipo (Paris) and Ms. Michelle Rhéaume-Champagne (Montreal) will feel suitably rewarded for the work they have put in to ensure the consistency of the information given and that it is in a form which will be helpful to its users.

We should like to acknowledge our debt of gratitude to colleagues all over the world who have had a part in making sure that the editors were provided with all the basic detail. It is really a truly international Co-operative effort, realising fully the aspirations of the International Working Party of Co-operative Librarians and Documentation Officers.

*Bernard Howcroft
Chairman*

Notes

The information contained in this Directory was gathered between September 1978 and June 1979 from participating organizations.

The first part lists international organizations; the second part is arranged by country.

The name of the organization is given in the original language. The index is as complete as possible regarding cross-references between different languages and abbreviations.

The sign " - " means no answer.
