ICAYAP - Regional Co-operative Youth Forum Meeting 2013

Invitation

Honourable Chief Guest

Myself, Dr Sukesh Zamwar, Director, Youth committee, International Cooperative Alliance – Asia Pacific (ICA-AP) also coordinator Asian Confederation of Credit Union (ACCU) for India.

I am also Chief Managing Director of India's one of the largest credit union Buldana Urban Credit Coop Society (BUCCS) with business mix of around 1.1 billion (USD)

I am very glad to inform you that this year India is hosting youth committee meeting and Buldana urban is the host.

As you know India is one of the big emerging economies and rapidly growing economy. India is also having huge population of youth and vast area of operation. As India is still a developing economy, there is vast chances of work. Indian youth and all Asian countries youth are aspiring and innovative so interaction among youths of various countries will be very fruitful and productive.

We are hoping some 20 TO 25 COUNTRIES along with UNITED NATIONS will join the event. ICA regional director will be there along with ministers from government of India will also participate.

Main agenda for this times event will be related to commerce and trade among cooperatives in the region and involvement of youth in it. As many strong economies in Asian region and some strong organisations in Asian regions are participating in this event so it will be the best chance to interact with each other and learn from each other. And all the events we kept more productive and interactive so that more interaction among cooperators occur and more strategic partnership should develop.

Desjardins from Canada (200 billion USD) organisation is in partnership with Buldana Urban. Desjardins is also planning to send somebody for the event.

Please Note: Travel and executive expenses of the minister will be bared by host. Every detail about the event is in attachment.

We would like to meet you on 18th June 2013, i.e on Tuesday to extend a personal invitation for the conference.

Thanking you,
with regards

Dr Sukesh Zamwar,

Agenda on Saturday July 20, 2013

Visit to world famous Ajanta Caves

The visits to the cooperatives and the recreational visit to Ajanta Caves will be organised by the host organisation and will be informed accordingly. However please note the information and timeline given under very carefully.

Aerial View of the Ancient human community

Art work inside the caves

The Ajanta Caves (75°40' N; 20°30' E) are situated at a distance of 107 km north of Aurangabad, the district headquarters. The caves attained the name from a nearby village named Ajanta located about 12 km. These caves were discovered by an Army Officer in the Madras Regiment of the British Army in 1819 during one of his hunting expeditions. Instantly the discovery became very famous and Ajanta attained a very important tourist destination in the world. The caves, famous for its murals, are the finest surviving examples of Indian art, particularly painting.

The world famous paintings at Ajanta also fall into two broad phases. The earliest is noticed in the form of fragmentary specimens in cave nos. 9 & 10, which are datable to second century B.C. The headgear and other ornaments of the images in these paintings resemble the bas-relief sculpture of Sanchi and Bharhut. The second phase of paintings started around 5th- 6th centuries A.D. and continued for the next two centuries. The specimen of these exemplary paintings of Vakataka period could be noticed in cave nos. 1, 2, 16 and 17. The variation in style and execution in these paintings also are noticed, mainly due to different authors of them. A decline in the execution is also noticed in some paintings as indicated by some rigid, mechanical and lifeless figures of Buddha in some later period paintings. The main theme of the paintings is the depiction of various Jataka stories, different incidents associated with the life of Buddha, and the contemporary events and social life also. The ceiling decoration invariably consists of decorative patterns, geometrical as well as floral.
