THE International Cooperative Alliance is one of the oldest of existing international voluntary bodies. It is a world-wide confederation of Cooperative Organisations of all types. Founded by the International Cooperative Congress held in London in 1895, it embraces more than 175,000,000 members of Cooperative Societies in more than 58 countries. It is the only Organisation entirely and exclusively dedicated to the promotion of Cooperation in all parts of the world. The headquarters of the Alliance are in London.

Since 1960, the Alliance has been operating its Regional Office and Education Centre for South-East Asia in New Delhi. The Regional Office has the task of developing the general activities of the Alliance in the Region. These activities consist, inter alia, in the provision of technical assistance, dissemination of information on cooperative matters including trade and the building of effective liaison with member-movements and international organisations including the UN Agencies.

The Regional Office includes the Education Centre which is financially supported by the Swedish Cooperative Movement. The Centre organises seminars, courses, conferences and workshops of different types and undertakes research in pertinent fields of Cooperation. So far the Centre has conducted more than 42 seminars which were attended by over 1,100 participants from different countries of the Region.

The present document is being published in order to provide reference material to cooperative organisations engaged in foreign trade. It is a part of our effort to build up documentation on international cooperative trade and to provide contacts for Cooperative Organisations seeking trading counterparts in countries other than their own.

FOREWORD

THE Regional Office and Education Centre for South-East Asia of the International Cooperative Alliance have been greatly heartened by the response to the Cooperative Trade Directory, two earlier editions of which have already been exhausted. The present edition is an expanded and improved version of the earlier two in the following respects. First of all, information from some more countries, which were not covered in earlier editions, has been added. Secondly, the entries appearing in the second edition of the Directory were revised after the information has been checked with the appropriate organisations. Thirdly, additional information collected by our Commercial Specialist, who recently completed a survey of cooperative trade in South-East Asia, has been added. A commodity index as also two appendices, containing a list of member-organisations of the Cooperative Wholesale Committee of the Alliance and another one giving information on branches and depots opened by cooperative wholesales in other parts of the world, have also been added. Finally, the column appearing in the earlier directories giving the quantities has been deleted due largely to the fact that exact information concerning the quantities was not forthcoming.

The Regional Office and Education Centre for South-East Asia of the International Cooperative Alliance would like to express their deep appreciation to all those organisations who have supplied information contained in this Directory. It is sincerely hoped that the document will prove useful to organisations interested in expanding trade across their frontiers.

New Delhi,
January 1, 1967

Regional Officer
